

DISTINGUISHED BENEFACTOR ALUMNI AWARD Mr.

and Mrs. Kelton Shaw, EX¹42

Kelton Shaw came to Wayland in 1941 after growing up in Lockney where his father was pastor of First Baptist Church. His parents, Aaron and Lula Shaw, both graduated from Wayland in 1928 after his father surrendered to the ministry.

Mr. Shaw's education was interrupted during World War II when he left school in 1942 to fight for his country. Following his military service, Mr. Shaw continued his education at Texas A&M. Mrs. Shaw still continues to take courses at Wayland on a regular basis.

It was at the church in Lockney where Mr. Shaw met his future wife. They married and are the parents of two grown children.

Their lives have been dedicated to their church and to their family. Both are still active at First Baptist Church in Lockney where Mr. Shaw is a deacon and they both teach Sunday School classes. They serve on various committees of the church and at one time or the other, have served in just about every capacity.

Mr. Shaw is a director at First National Bank in Floydada and served as a member of the Lockney School Board for 14 years. He has been involved in agribusiness through the years and is currently engaged in farming and ranching activities.

The Shaws love for Wayland is evidenced by his serving as a member of the Board of Trustees and their continuing support of Wayland and her programs. Their quiet, unassuming generosity has touched numerous lives and will benefit innumerable young people for years to come.

Because of their loyalty to their church and to Wayland Baptist University, the Association of Former Students is proud to honor Mr. and Mrs. Kelton Shaw with the Distinguished Benefactor Alumni Award today.
