

week session. The award of the scholarship will be competitive and the recipient will be selected based on timely submission of and response to criteria noted in the Employee Scholarship Application form – Doctorate, or Attachment B. Once awarded, the recipient may continue to receive the scholarship so long as the student remains continuously enrolled and is making satisfactory academic progress toward the degree.

Employees registering as undergraduate students wishing to receive financial aid for more than one class per 16-week term or 8-week session will be required to file the FAFSA. This will determine eligibility for grants and loans (federal and/or state funded).

